PROGRAMME OVERVIEW:

There is no better or easier way to learn a language than to live, eat and breathe it ... and there is no better place to study than in vibrant, beautiful Brazil!

Our Portuguese courses take place in both the dazzling city of Rio de Janeiro and the beach paradise Florianópolis. You can also combine a Portuguese Course with any other project in either location. We will place you in the right course for your level and make learning a language easy and fun!

The Portuguese Programme

Complete immersion in another culture is, without doubt, the fastest and most effective way to learn a new language. You not only learn to speak a language fluently, you also have the opportunity of learning about the culture of the language and living and studying with likeminded people with the same motivations as you.

Learning a language may appear difficult at first when trying to learn by yourself or in a segregated classroom at home. However, when you are living, working, socializing and breathing a new language – you learn fast – and the whole process is exciting, memorable and a lot of fun.... especially in Brazil...!!

There are many benefits to learning a foreign language abroad. You can interact with the local people and understand and appreciate the greater subtleties of a culture, such as the local literature, music, art, and folklore. You'll never regret studying a language abroad. It is an experience that will build your character while helping you to achieve an impressive personal goal and acquire skills that will help you to succeed in life.

Teachers try, where possible, to hold classes predominantly in Portuguese, but most teachers are fluent English speakers and will assist you in English if or when you get stuck. Having the classes in held in Portuguese helps to immerse you in the Brazilian language and encourages you to converse and gain confidence in speaking Portuguese.

If you are doing another placement in Brazil you may want to consider taking some Portuguese Lessons as a supplement - even some basic knowledge will be beneficial to you during your teaching assignment. For combination programmes, we will ensure that your timetable is arranged to give you plenty of time in between your different placements.

Work Content.

Florianópolis - You will be enrolled to study Portuguese (Brazilian) with a private Portuguese teacher in Florianópolis Eder, the teacher, has an excellent reputation and was chosen by Travellers for his track record providing quality language lessons to 'foreigners'. He's highly qualified, so has obviously undertaken specific courses, such as degree in English and Portuguese Languages, at the Federal University of Santa Catarina State.

He's been working as an English and Portuguese Teacher for many years teaching private students. Before teaching English and Portuguese, he worked for 3 years in a non-governmental organization, teaching literature and topics related to the human's rights. From this experience he found out his passion for teaching.

He's just finishing two other post-grad courses, one in Marketing and the other one in Business, and intends to do take his masters degree next year in order to teach at University as well.

You will benefit from receiving lots of help both in and out of the lessons from the very friendly and helpful staff. Portuguese classes are normally held within walking distance of your accommodation.

Most of the time your lessons will be during the day on Monday to Friday, but it is possible that occasionally your lesson times will vary slightly. Teaching revolves around an intensive language program that utilizes innovative techniques on a one-teacher to one-student basis. You will receive individual tuition and lessons prepared especially for you.

The course can be intensive (10 hours/lesson per week) or semi-intensive (05 hours/lesson per week), depending on the volunteers' aims. For those wanting to get an understanding of the language as quickly as possible, providing a good spring board to learning whilst allowing you to remain free to take part in other interests

Portuguese lessons are strongly recommended if you are a complete beginner or if you are undergoing a teaching placement and want to improve your Portuguese at the same time.

Rio - You'll be enrolled on a course with a local language school located in the Catete district of central Rio, just a 10 minute walk from your accommodation. The experienced and dedicated teachers at this school are incredibly friendly and will go out of their way to ensure that you have an enjoyable experience learning Portuguese in Brazil!

Studying in Rio will also be a fun cultural experience, as you absorb the Brazilian way of life from your interactions with Carioca's!

Depending on your preferences, you can take a course in a small group (no more than 8 students), or on a one-to-one basis. If you are taking private lessons then you'll have the opportunity for the course to be tailored exactly to your needs. Lessons last one and half hours each and are taught through various methods, including: talking, multimedia (video, CD's, internet), practical activities, excursions and cultural trips!

Portuguese courses are available to all levels, from beginner to advanced, and can be taken for a variety of durations each week, from 5 to 20 hours. We recommend a minimum of 30 hours of tuition (spread across several weeks) for concrete learning to take place. Please speak to us for more details and prices of these courses

At the end of the course, you'll receive a certificate issued by the School, stating that you have attended the course, to which level, and the duration in hours of the course you have completed.

Any student attending a course should ensure to bring with them a good quality, compact dictionary that includes a comprehensive Grammar tables. If you want to buy a phrasebook in preparation for your trip, ensure it is a Brazilian Portuguese phrasebook and not Portuguese.

LOCATION:

Rio de Janeiro, was discovered on January (Janeiro) 1, 1502 by Portuguese navigators who mistook the entrance of Guanabara Bay for the mouth of a river (Rio). Brazil's second largest city gave up the title of capital city with the creation of Brasilia – the newly engineered capital of Brazil. If Brasilia is the capital city and Sao Paulo the engine of Brazil, Rio is still regarded as the heart of the country. Known to Brazilians as "Cidade Maravilhosa" (The Wonderful City), Rio de Janeiro is always brimming with colours, sounds, rhythms, and joy, all helping to make it synonymous with Carnival! Very few places in the world match the hospitality and natural charm in which Rio is perpetually swathed.

Squeezed into a narrow, astonishingly lovely zone between rainforest-clad cliffs and the sea, in what many have called the world's most beautiful city setting, Rio de Janeiro pulses like an artery. The famed emeralds, amethysts, and rubies of Rio shops are just the beginning; all the colours of the world are here. The thousand shades of Amazon green, the deep black of a businessman's London made suit, the lucid gold of afternoon sunlight, the grey of granite monoliths, the blue of a tropical sea, the hundred shades of tanned flesh. The primeval splendour of Rio's environs lends the city an eternal youth - the arrogant flamboyance that lets one dance too late and too seductively, talk to a stranger when you don't really speak the language, and wander the streets knowing you will end up somewhere exciting.

That somewhere is usually near the beach: Rio's 45 miles of white sand beach encompass neighbourhoods' familiar the world over. Copacabana, Ipanema, and Leblon cuddle together like a clique of celebrities, each brilliantly different. Rio de Janeiro's diverse personalities often delight and astound, and never fail to fascinate, from the impeccable, beach-scarved Avenida Atlantica to the favelas which blanket the hillsides, to the cobblestone streets and artist-inhabited Victorian mansions of Santa Theresa. During the day, the beach-and-cafe cultures nonchalantly transform the shoreline into the center of the city. At night, the clubs, restaurants, and dance halls, called forros, dominate. Part of the nightlife's charm is its spontaneity.

Rio is indisputably a majestic city to rival any – and comes complete with all the attendant traffic and bustle to follow. But the life that inspires the Rio driver to make three lanes where there were only meant to be two also coaxes an impromptu samba from tired legs and drives that most renowned of all Rio events, Carnival. What colour Mother-Nature hasn't already supplied, the local Cariocas will invent. Nothing is spared for this festival of senses.

Florianópolis, or Floripa as it is more commonly known, is the capital city of Santa Catarina in southern Brazil. It is composed of one main island, Ilha de Santa Catarina, and a number of surrounding small islands. It has a modern, cosmopolitan feel, but its location nestled amongst sand dunes, rain forest, beach and mountains make it the perfect place to sample the best of both worlds...

In Florianópolis the natural treasures are truly exceptional and include beautiful lagoons, stunning beaches, rolling mountains lush with Atlantic rainforest, soft white dunes, and an array of small offshore islands, as well as a wealth of landscapes, aromas and colors.

The island offers opportunities for many types of tourism, from traditional summer relaxation holidays to surfing, windsurfing, paragliding, snorkeling, diving, boat tours, jiu jitsu, hiking, whale-watching and many other ecotourism options.

The island truly has a bit of something for everyone, from authentic and rustic fishing villages, to surfer's paradises surrounded by charming small towns (which remind many people of parts of San Diego or Santa Barbara in California), to high-end Brazilian summer getaways (reminiscent of South Beach in Miami or San Tropei in France), as well as pristine and untouched nature preserves, just minutes from modern shopping malls and cinema complexes. Its numerous white and clean sand bottom beaches continue to draw visitors from around the world in addition to the sun-worshipping local population.

Brazil is widely known for its unbelievable parties, beautiful people, and unrelenting passion for enjoying life, and Florianópolis is quickly becoming known as the epicenter of this lifestyle. There are a wide variety of nightlife options on the island from the strip of bars playing live music in the Lagoa da Conceição to the ultra-hip and ultra-exclusive parties in Jurerê Internacional. Whatever your poison, make sure you save your energy because you won't want to miss a second!!!

The climate in Florianópolis is very favorable, sub-tropical and temperate most of the year, with average temperature between 70°F and 90°F. The population of the island today is estimated at approximately 400,000 inhabitants.

ACCOMMODATION & FOOD:

RIO - Accommodation is situated in the Flamengo region of Rio - just a hop, skip and a jump away from famous Copacabana beach! This is a great place to be as you will be only 3 minutes away from the metro station, opposite the Catete Palace and you will be able to visit Sugar Loaf Mountain and the Christ the Redeemer statue with great ease.

You will be staying in a dorm room in a brand new hostel which has been set up by an artist with a wish to create a hostel that is different to anything else in Rio. Set in a beautiful redeveloped building from the end of the 19th century, you will be surrounded by wonderful Brazilian art, dipping you straight into the culture from the first minute you arrive! With over 110 beds, some decorated with an "art" theme you will be sure to meet like-minded travellers, other volunteers and artists from all over the world! The hostel currently has internet and WiFi, a common area, TV room, library, book exchange, safes, a terrace area for socializing, and a housekeeping service. It also has a bike rental service. They often have popular music from Brazil with live music on occasion and a fantastically vibrant, friendly atmosphere.

If you'd like to upgrade to a double or single room, just let us know at time of booking and we can arrange it for you. There will be a small supplement for the upgrade. All rooms have their own bathroom and individual cupboard with a key for security.

Area: The hostel is located only a 15 minute-walking distance away from the Arches of 'Lapa', 'Cinelandia' and 'Flamengo', from where you can visit Sugar Loaf Mountains (Pao de Acucar) and the Statue of Christ, the Redeemer; only 3 minutes away from 'Catete' Underground station, where you can catch the train and get to 'Copacabana' or 'Ipanema' beach in less than 15 minutes. There are several banks, ATMs, supermarkets, drugstores, cinema, hotels, shops, etc., all within a couple of minutes away, which makes the area interesting and busy even in the night time! The options for entertainment are endless too; one night you can choose to watch a film at the cinema; the other you can just chill out with friends in a local bar or pub.

Past volunteers have regarded eating out as one of the highlights of living in South America, and an essential part of Brazilian culture! Because of this, the price of your placement includes your breakfast but for dinner, you'll get the chance to venture out and sample some of the fabulous food which Rio is famous for.

For breakfast in the hostel you can expect a feast of natural fruits and juices (try the acai – a delicious berry to sprinkle on your granola cereal), coffee, milk, bread, cheese, ham, butter, jams and sweet cakes (popular in Brazil for breakfast) amongst other things – so you certainly won't be leaving on an empty stomach! You will be allowed to use the kitchen facilities whenever it is not being used by the hotel staff.

FLORIANOPOLIS - For a complete cultural experience in Florianopolis you will live with one of our selected host families that help Travellers to make your placement as much enjoyable as possible. All of our host families are welcoming and will provide you a very familiar environment. We believe that this is the best way to become integrated into the local culture - you'll be much more than just a "tourist" and the added benefits are that often our host families introduce you to their families and friends and they often invite our volunteers to many local events, such as football matches, cinema, a drink in a local pub in the evening after a day of work, birthday parties, family Sunday's meals, a ride to the beach, etc.

It's also a great opportunity to learn Portuguese in an easy and natural way.

The family you'll live with will be allocated according to the location of your project, the number of volunteers at the same time as you, any personal issues (such as if you're allergic to pets, for example), but all our host families are near to laundrettes, supermarkets, shops, banks, pharmacies, internet cafes, etc., and located in safe areas. The centre of the city is usually a 20-minute bus ride away.

You may share a room with another Travellers' volunteer and you will get contact details of all the other volunteers who are in Florianopolis at the same time as you so you can be in touch with them.

The bathrooms are Western style and have hot water.

COUNTRY PROFILE:

Brazil's colourful diversity and geographical abundance seem to embody everything that is best in South America. The Amazon flows through its heart! There is a dazzling string of great cities along its coast - the pulse-pounding resort of Rio de Janeiro; sprawling, metropolitan Sao Paulo; and, further north, the entrancing canals and bustling piers of Recife.

We have programmes in two very different locations. You can choose between the dazzling city of Rio de Janeiro and the beach paradise Florianópolis. A world of contrasts! Alternatively, why not combine your placement and visit them both....?

Brazil has an incredible amount of diversity in vegetation and climate and a fascinating cultural mix of immigrants who have brought with them their customs and cuisines. A vibrant, pulsating country!

This tropical paradise is alive with mad passion in every walk of life. Axe (a-chay) means energy in Brazil and nowhere else is the heart-pounding, rhythmic energy more prevalent, be it an impromptu capoeira roda on a street corner, bursting with music, excitement and physical perfection, or the sound of loud raucous laughter between two acquaintances over ice cold beer in local open sided bars.

Brazil has the sixth largest population in the world (about 169 million people) which has doubled in the past 30 years. Because of its size, there are only 15 people per sq. km, concentrated mainly along the coast and in the major cities, where two-thirds of the people now live: over 19 million in greater Sao Paulo and 11 million in greater Rio.

In Brazil work is secondary to leisure and Brazilians know how to enjoy life. It is impossible not to absorb this infectious passion for life, enthusiasm for fun and appreciation of the little things in each day. Of course, a consistently hot summer and beaches such as the Copacabana and the infamous local tittle of Caipirinha all help secure that lively, happy vibe!

Caipirinha is the traditional Brazilian cocktail and is fittingly delicious. Refreshing and powerfully alcoholic, a Caipirinha is prepared with a Brazilian sugarcane liquor, Cachaça, lime juice (fresh from the fruit), sugar and lots of ice. This is an appetiser to be enjoyed before eating when socialising with friends – something you will do much of in Brazil.

Brazilians know how to party, in the cities, in the country, on the beaches and, in fact, wherever they go, and the biggest party of all time occurs each year throughout the country. Carnival is spectacular!! It takes place in February all across Brazil but particularly in Rio. The streets are packed and pumping with incessant samba beats and pure hedonism for 5 days with a period of building excitement for some time before. Any excuse for a party! The year begins after Carnival and, as with all things Brazilian, somewhat later than planned. Well, after all... what's the rush....?

Around the same size as the USA, Brazil is by far the largest South American country. It borders every country in South America but Ecuador and Chile. Brazil's population is clustered along the East coast of the Atlantic whilst much of the rest of this tropical land remains scarcely populated and difficult to access. Brazilians are most commonly of African, European or Indian descent and of Roman Catholic faith. The official language, unlike anywhere else in South America, is Portuguese. This diverse ethnic background is often cited as the explanation for the welcoming nature of the average Brazilian, who, as some say, 'have a little of the entire world in their blood'.

Carnival, which takes place throughout Brazil, is a moveable feast that is tied to the religious calendar. Traditionally a pre-Lent celebration, ending on Ash Wednesday. Carnival activities around Brazil normally take place from the Friday prior to Ash Wednesday and continue up to and including Ash Wednesday itself. In some cities, the celebrations will spill over through the entire week and include the following weekend. Many Brazilian offices and business will close for the week of Carnival in much the same way UK firms close between Christmas and New Year.

Like Mardi Gras, Carnival has its roots in ancient pagan ritual. The wild parties began in the Middle Ages but were tamed in Europe by Christianity. The Portuguese were irrepressible, however. Carnival flourished and incorporated extravagant costumes from India and primitive carnal beats from African rhythm. Carnival takes place before lent where Catholic Brazilians officially gave up luxuries such as meat, alcohol and pastries. The word Carnival seems to have derived from the Latin 'goodbye meat'. The reasoning, and a grand one, behind Carnival therefore was to accumulate and rack up all sins in a blow out of extreme proportions, in advance of the deprivation ahead!

The excitement of Carnival builds practically all year round. Rehearsals at samba schools begin in August and marching percussion bands practise for their performances of music throughout the year.

Carnaval Balls are extreme, surreal and erotic events. There is various stages of undress, extravagant body painting, stickered tattoos, fishnets and spandex involved! Hypnotic music, grinding movements and beautiful ladies of the night vying for the camera's attention are included in the price of the ticket. Some of these beautiful ladies are less 'lady' than they may appear...

Street Carnival is all about the dancing in the streets, marching bands pump out their theme tune and other rhythms as the drag queens and party crazed people bop along behind.

The samba parades are perhaps a highlight of carnival. As the Lonely Planet so nicely puts it, the Brazilians harness sweat, noise and confusion and turn it into art. The best Samba schools in the country prepare all year for their moment of glory. This procession is a competition of the art. There are many aspects to samba including percussion, song, dance, choreography, costumes, story line, floats and decorations. The winner of the samba parades earns admiration and the pride of Rio and all of Brazil.

THINGS TO DO IN: BRAZIL

Brazil offers so many different things to do that it's impossible to narrow it down to a few 'favourites'. One of the greatest things about this vibrant country is the atmosphere.... wherever you are and whatever you're doing, take time to absorb it - as you learn about the country around you and interact with local people you'll soon appreciate the energetic yet laid back Brazilian way of life!

- Amazonia National Park: The Amazon covers an impressive 7 of Brazil's 27 states and almost 40% of the total land mass. If you have the time, its a must see for the wildlife, climbing, trekking or lazy days spent traveling by boat along the river.
- Iguaçu Falls: Sometimes described as being one of the 7 natural Wonders of the World! The falls have 275 separate cascading waterfalls, above which you'll see a glistening rainbow coloured mist. Simply spectacular!
- Rio de Janeiro: Rio is infamous, for its sun, sea and surf. As a city, it's friendly, chaotic, laid back and exciting! On top of the beach scene, Rio's the cultural and educational heart of Brazil, with many art galleries, museums, theatres, and dance halls where you can learn to Samba like the locals!
- Recife: Located on the north eastern coast of Brazil, Recife is well known for the cannals and connecting bridges that criss-cross the city - a picturesque city and a famous tourist destination. There are many great beaches in this region and the cuisine is entirely different from that of the south of Brazil, making it well worth a visit.
- Florianópolis: With 42 beaches and a thriving surf, sun and water sport culture it's no surprise that Veja magazine, a Brazilian publication, named Florianopolis "the best place to live in Brazil."
- The Pantanal: Considered one of the world's great wildlife reserves with the best fishing in South America. Visitors come to these wetlands for the bird watching - this region is teeming with birds and other wildlife.
- Salvador: Formerly Brazil's colonial capital city and once the slave centre of Brazil. Salvador's enchanting cobblestone streets give it the charm of a Roman city, yet with an African soul. A must see for the ornate churches and lively, vibrant atmosphere.
- Sao Paulo: Sao Paulo is HUGE!! Not only is this the most populous city in Brazil, but it is also the commercial centre, home to many big businesses and skyscrapers. Italian and Japanese immigrants have settled in the city, leaving a cosmopolitan atmosphere with some of the trendiest nightlife in the whole of Brazil.

VOLUNTEER FEEDBACK:

"My lessons were one-to-one which was fantastic as I could move at my own pace - in my case this was pretty slow! We covered practical topics such as purchasing goods, food and drink, transport and helpful classroom phrases. I also got useful tips from my friendly teacher on where was best to shop and go out in Rio! And every lesson I was offered Coffee (which I learned to drink short and black with lots of sugar) and sometimes homemade cakes!"
